I find that the credible testimony and information submitted at the hearing establishes by clear and convincing evidence X a preponderance of the evidence: Defendant is charged with possession of counterfeit securities under 18 USC § 513(a). The evidence propounded against defendant is strong. On January 9, 2007, defendant gave counterfeit checks to a CI and there is strong evidence of his discussions regarding costs for the transaction. Essentially, defendant admitted his involvement in the offense. As a result of a review of the evidence, the court finds that there are no conditions that will reasonably assure defendant's appearance as required:

- 1. Defendant has a criminal history since 1994, which began as a juvenile. His first offense was for shoplifting. In 1998 he was charged with theft under $1000 and conspiracy. Prior to his conviction for this offense, he failed to appear in court on two occassions for which capiases were issued. Within a year of his release from prison and while on probation, he was charged with VOP twice and and three FTAs were issued, the last occurring in September 2006 which appears to be outstanding. In 2001, he was charged with forgery and theft in PA, sentenced and in 2005 a bench warrant was issued for a VOP which appears to be outstanding. He also has an outstanding capias for driving during a period of suspension in PA issued October 2006. He is wanted in PA and has been a fugitive from that jurisdiction. Defendant was charged with this offense, picked up in DE and then failed to appear for a subsequent hearing which would have resulted in his extradition.
- 2. His aliases are numerous including Baby Anderson, Babywalter Anderson, Rahsaan Anderson, X Babywalter, Pookie Anderson and Mike Pitt.

  He is known to use an additional birthdate and 3 other SS#. All of his prior criminal offenses have been consistent with his present charge, that is, theft, forgery, shoplifting.
- 3. Although defendant claims that he is suffering from a serious health condition, there was no indication that he has attempted to treat that condition for at least the past two years. It appeared that raising this concern with the court was purely for release.

Part III—Directions Regarding Detention

The defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or his designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant shall be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility shall deliver the defendant to the United States marshal for the purpose of an appearance in connection with a court proceeding.
